Your Financial Aid History Information

The information below is the total amount of student loans that you owe. These loans are administered by the U.S. Department of Education (ED). You should confirm that these loan totals are correct. You can view details on the individual loans that make up these totals at the National Student Loan Data System (NSLDS) Web site. If you feel that the amounts listed on this page are incorrect, or you have other questions related to a loan, you should contact the loan servicer indicated on the NSLDS Web site. You can obtain general information about each of the types of loans that are listed below by visiting our StudentAid.gov Web site.

Note that the "Subsidized" and "Unsubsidized" amounts include the appropriate portions of any Consolidation Loans you may have. If there is an amount listed for "Unallocated Consolidation Loans" it is because we could not determine whether those balances were subsidized or unsubsidized.

Remember you are responsible for repaying all of the amounts that you borrow, plus interest. As a general rule, with an assumed interest rate of 5%, the monthly payment amount over a ten-year repayment period would be approximately $10.61 for every $1,000 that you borrowed. Of course your actual repayment amount will depend upon how much you borrow, the interest rate when you enter repayment, and how long your repayment term is.

To Whom it May Concern,

For the past decade, my father, Alan Adler, had derived his main source of income from a family business which amassed a huge commercial debt load, which now amounts to approximately $262,000. My parents' 2018 tax returns show capital gains from the sale of stocks that were used to pay 2017 taxes. The majority of proceeds from the stock sale were automatically recouped by the brokerage in order to pay off the margin loan used to finance the business. The remainder was used to pay 2017 taxes. My father started a new job in February 2020 to supplement his business income. Then came COVID-19. The governor ordered the closure of all businesses, which prevented my father's company from manufacturing any product and therefore from making any sales. The company's viability is now in question. As a sole member LLC with no payroll, government assistance from the CARES act was not available at first and ran out before the business was able to receive any assistance. At the supplemental job, his salary was just cut 10% due to the economic pressures from COVID-19. The combination of these two events stemming from the pandemic has put significant additional strain on our finances this year.

Sincerely,

Nathan Adler

I find a post-secondary education to be nothing short of essential because I believe in the incomparable value of a comprehensive liberal arts education. The true value of college, beyond the opportunities it provides, doors it opens, and connections it fosters, is that it prepares one for becoming a proper citizen in today's complex world. At the University of Pennsylvania, my education to this end has been of the utmost quality and rigor. I entered college two short years ago with little direction or idea of what my future held, outside of attempting to take classes that intrigued me. Today, after much introspection and a long search, I have declared my major as International Relations, an interdisciplinary track which epitomizes the liberal arts approach to education and will culminate with the writing of a senior thesis. Though I am still unsure of what direction I wish my life to take, my education will prepare me well for whatever the future may hold. The value of my schooling to this date has already manifested itself in the way I solve problems, formulate arguments, and approach the world.

Attending the University of Pennsylvania has always been a goal of mine, as I grew up around the university, with both my father and grandfather proud to call it their alma matter. It is a goal that I am extremely proud to be accomplishing. Penn is a storied institution that has, just as I had hoped when I applied, provided me with unparallel opportunities, which I have taken full advantage of. Academically, I have received both the freedom to explore my interests at my own pace and the intellectual rigor to challenge me and help me grow as a scholar and an individual. Outside of the classroom, I have involved myself in a wide variety of organizations, joining the campus newspaper, gaining a job in the Athletic Communications Office, and becoming a member of a fraternity, along with taking full advantage of the wide range of speakers and events on campus. Over the first two years, my college experience at Penn has been transformative and I am confident that, with the trajectory I am now on, it will continue to be.
