The information below is the total amount of student loans that you owe. These loans are administered by the U.S. Department of Education (ED). You should confirm that these loan totals are correct. You can view details on the individual loans that make up these totals at the National Student Loan Data System (NSLDS) Web site. If you feel that the amounts listed on this page are incorrect, or you have other questions related to a loan, you should contact the loan servicer indicated on the NSLDS Web site. You can obtain general information about each of the types of loans that are listed below by visiting our StudentAid.gov Web site.

Note that the "Subsidized" and "Unsubsidized" amounts include the appropriate portions of any Consolidation Loans you may have. If there is an amount listed for "Unallocated Consolidation Loans" it is because we could not determine whether those balances were subsidized or unsubsidized.

Remember you are responsible for repaying all of the amounts that you borrow, plus interest. As a general rule, with an assumed interest rate of 5%, the monthly payment amount over a ten-year repayment period would be approximately $10.61 for every $1,000 that you borrowed. Of course your actual repayment amount will depend upon how much you borrow, the interest rate when you enter repayment, and how long your repayment term is.

My Greatest Influence

My grandparents had a huge impact on my future educational and career plans. When I was younger, I always looked up to them and still do. They not only influenced my decision of where to attend college but what to major in as well.

Grandma and Grandpa met in college at the University of Pennsylvania, where they both studied architecture. Soon after, they got married and started a family. They eventually decided to start their own architecture firm called, "Cohen Associates." My granparents were very successful by designing homes, synagogues, churches, and health care facilities. They were passionate about their work but always made time for each other and their family. My grandma was one of the very few women in the male dominated architecture program. She learned how to balance work and motherhood.

About two years ago, my grandpa got very sick. My grandma was by his bedside all day and through the evenings. I remember one day she was very stressed because a design was due. I went to the project site with my grandma and helped her get measurements. She completed the project while still caring for my grandfather. Suddenly, my grandma soon became ill as well. She passed away within a month. I was heartbroken. My grandpa lost his work partner, his wife, and best friend. Fortunately, he recovered and thinks about my grandma and architecture every day.

My grandparent's love and passion for each other and their work inspired me to want to become an architect. I want to create buildings in my community that others can appreciate every day just like they did. My grandma was an architect in a day and age where there were not a lot of women architects. She was very successful and always worked hard. She taught me to never give up on my dreams, women can do the jobs men could, and that anything is possible. I will be attending Bryn Mawr College (a Quaker consortium school to the University of Pennsylvania) to continue my academic and soccer career. It has always been my goal to play soccer at the next level while attending a strong academic school. I am proud to say I will be doing both next fall. I would not be where I am today without the inspiration from my grandparents.

Commented [CM1]: My grandma was one of the very few women in the male dominated architecture program in x-x. She learned how to balance work and motherhood.

To Whom It May Concern:

I have known Madeline Cohen since the 9th grade and she has always stood out as being a very conscientious student. She is always prepared, organized, respectful and pleasant. She shares readily and volunteers frequently, which help to make a class a more pleasurable experience for the students as well as the instructor. She is able to intelligently articulate and defend her opinions and her work and she is eager to learn. Maddie is always honest and forthright and takes full responsibility for all her work. She is a very mature young woman. She is caring and sensitive with regards to her classmates and fits in with any and all groups of people. She is helpful and cheerful in her work and is motivated to excel in all she does. She is keenly aware of how important academics are to her future and is very focused in her studies.

Maddie's attributes go beyond the classroom walls, however. She is very involved with extra-curricular activities both in school and in her community, that demonstrate leadership ability on her part. She has held officer positions in the National Honor Society and MINI Thon, has been on the Varsity Soccer Team, the Varsity Basketball Team, has been an assistant counselor at summer camp, volunteered for numerous food banks and drives to help fund them and has been a regular volunteer at graduation throughout her years at STHS. Maddie has received numerous awards and acknowledgements for her efforts and accomplishments since her freshman year. She volunteers her time readily and joyfully with and for her place of worship for their regular services and for fund raising activities. She has always demonstrated great judgement and decision-making skills and is a VERY trustworthy young woman.

Maddie is well liked and respected by her peers and teachers and gets along with everyone. She has a great sense of humor and keen wit that set her aside from many other students. I enjoy engaging her in conversation and find her personality delightful. She is definitely someone from whom I expect great things and is worthy of recommendation for any scholarship opportunities that might come her way. I am confident that she will rise to any challenge and will not be a disappointment to anyone who rewards young people with promising futures. Her potential is limitless.

If you have questions that I could answer regarding Maddie's character and capabilities, I would be most happy to respond to them at any time and can be reached at 717-439-1270 to do so.

Sincerely,

Theresa Y. Bowley French Instructor
